Patagonia Simple Guide Pant Review | OutdoorGearLab

The alpine guide pants are the best soft-shell pant that I've ever used for colder conditions. They're durable, articulate, and warm, but they also breathe well for high-output activities. These are what I grab for mountaineering in the Cascades, back country skiing in Utah's Wasatch, or ice climbing in Ouray.

Patagonia Men's Alpine Guide Pants - $159.95 - GearBuyer.com

The Patagonia Alpine Guide Pants are generally found on the top of my pants heap. The Polartec Powershield fabric is amazing. It is highly breathable and highly wind proof. The lightly brushed interior feels nice against my skin and the outside of the fabric remains surprisingly unblemished after a season of use.

Women's Snow & Alpine Pants by Patagonia

I travel to Europe every year around the holidays and wear these pants almost exclusively! I hike 10+ miles a day in these, city and country, stop in restaurants, go out to dinner, they look great, they weigh nothing, they pack small and you can get a few days wear out of them.
