The Bagit: Transferring Content for Digital Preservation video is a great place to start to understand how digital content makes its way to the Library.. A bag is like a folder or directory on a computer. It is essentially comprised of three elements: A bag declaration text file, which is like a seal of authenticity; a text-file manifest listing the files in the collection; and a subdirectory ...

metadata for the bag using options like --contact-name above, which get persisted to the bag-info.txt. For a complete list of bag-info.txt properties you can use as command line arguments see --help.. Since calculating checksums can take a while when creating a bag, you may want to calculate them in parallel if you are on a multicore machine.
