At the boat quays couples were waiting to join one of the neon-lit dinner and dance boats, while on other boats – the barges – a cat washed itself by a smoking funnel and a woman with her hair in a scarf threw coffee into the water. So many lives, and ours too, tangled up with this night, these strangers. Strangers ourselves.

Boating for Beginners Quotes by Jeanette Winterson
Boating For Beginners. Mrs Munde was having trouble with the Hallelujah Hamburger. Noah's machine was slow, messy and smelly. She could have whipped them up quicker with a pastry mould. Truth to tell she was finding the Lord's work altogether tedious. When Ham came back for the third time, she told him they should scrap the machine.

Jeanette Winterson: Boating for Beginners. Oh, where to begin with this book? Let me start by saying that I loved Oranges Are Not the Only Fruit (the beginning more than the ending), but I didn't really get along with Winterson's later work. This was several years ago. Now, I came across her short early novel, Boating for Beginners, in a thrift shop.

Jeanette Winterson Boating for Beginners - Free Essay ... Everything is mixed in Boating for Beginners, all these things have been carefully and cleverly hinted by Jeanette Winterson to make us think and not believe everything in the novel.
