Draw Triangles. To make the graph, we need to calculate the sine for different angles, then put those points on a graph, and then "join the dots". Step 1: Draw the Angled Lines. Place a mark at the center of a piece of paper, then, using a protractor, mark every 15 degrees from 0° to 180° in a semi-circle.
Then rotate the protractor and mark

Sine Function - Graph Exercise

A rectangle cannot have a diagonal line of symmetry like a square because the sides are not the same length. If you fold this rectangle diagonally so that Corner A meets Corner D, the sides would not match. Try it with a piece of notebook paper! You can draw lines of symmetry on many different figures. Look at the lines of symmetry on the ...
