Then that probably wasn't helpful. EWS is BMW's electronic drive away protection system. The exact implementation of EWS on the E36 varied slightly through the years, but the general lack of long term reliability stayed the same. Key failures, antenna

The issue is your vehicle has EWS, drive away protection system. How this works simply is the EWS module and the DME work together to prevent the vehicle from being able to be started by intrusive ways through theft. The DME cuts power to the injectors and ignition system and the EWS will block the starter motor.
