Well, in many missions killing all enemies isn't your goal, and you need to accomplish your actual objective. In cases where it is your goal to kill all enemies, there may be some you missed, such as a faceless in civilian form standing around somewhere, or depending on the mission incoming reinforcements may stop the game from ending.

Kill all enemies. This will kill all biters, bases and worms. Anything that is an enemy will be completely destroyed. This only affects enemies in the explored world, so any unexplored parts of the map which still need to be generated will still have enemies. You can prevent biters being on newly generated chunks if desired.

How exactly does the Kill All Enemies command work, does it kill all untamed dinos or will it also kill tamed dinos other tribes have tamed? The admin kinda messed with the number of dino spawns, then realized the server couldn't take it so he reduced number of spawns back to normal, but the already spawned ones were still there. So we're trying to quell the dino count to stabilize the server.
