The Nash Metropolitan is an American automobile that was assembled in England and marketed from 1953 to 1961.. It conforms to two classes of vehicle: economy car and subcompact car. In today's US terminology the Metropolitan is a "subcompact", but this category was not yet in use when the car was made. At that time, it was variously categorized, for example as a "small automobile" as well ...

The Springfield XDE is a little bigger than the Springfield XDS. It holds one more round too. The biggest difference is, of course, the hammer instead of a striker. Many shooters prefer and love hammer-fired pistols. The other difference is that the grip safety is gone. It's been replaced with the manual safety (which doubles as decocker).
