Programming Arduino with LabVIEW | LaptrinhX

" LabVIEW is a graphical programming language built for engineers and scientists. With over 20 years of development behind it, it is a mature development tool that makes automation a pleasure. The graphical system design takes out the complexity of learning C or C++ , which is the native language of Arduino, and lets the user focus on getting the prototype complete. " (Schwartz, Manickum, 2015)
