multicollinearity was unlikely to be a problem (see Tabachnick and Fidell, 2007). All predictor variables were statistically correlated with criminal behaviour which indicates that the data was suitably correlated with the dependent variable for examination through multiple linear regression to be reliably undertaken.

Tabachnick & Fidell (2007)'s sample size criteria for moderation is  $N > 50 + 8k$ , where  $k$  = all the predictors. Do all the predictors include the IVs + the moderators + interaction terms between the IVs & the moderators? For example: Does gender (male or female) moderate the relationship between stress and work output?

After the Introduction Chapter, the second Chapter gives a guide to the multivariate techniques that are covered in this book and places them in context with the more familiar univariate and bivariate statistics where possible. Included in this chapter is a flow chart that organizes statistical techniques on the basis of the major research questions asked.
