The fear of rejection & the three little pigs | by Albu ...
'The little pig began to pray, but Wolfie blew his house away!'. Roald Dahl is at his subversive best in this gruesomely funny re-telling of favourite children's tale The Three Little Pigs. Hilarious happenings follow the little piggies as they build their houses, with some outrageously comic twists to the familiar story.

It was great to see an Aussie version of the well-known children's story starring three little bush pigs and their nemesis the dingrel (like a bad dingo). There was a lot of humour and some gags for the adults (e.g., the old car with the licence plate "Full Boar" and the house that was approved in writing by the council).

"The Three Little Pigs" is a fable about three pigs who build three houses of different materials. A Big Bad Wolf blows down the first two pigs' houses, made of straw and sticks respectively, but is unable to destroy the third pig's house, made of bricks. Printed versions date back to the 1840s, but the story itself is thought to be much older.
