Too Far to Walk — Old Santa Fe Trading Co
Within Forrest Fenn's poem of nine clues, is a line that says, 'Not far, but too far to walk.' If searching for Fenn's treasure, a person has to wonder 'how far is not far?' and 'how far is too far to walk?' The following is a thought I have had on those questions.

Whats also interesting, and pure speculation, is Forrest's comment that anything over 10 miles is too far too walk. Was that his way of telling us that 5 miles in and 5 miles back out is as far as one needs to go. I just find it strange that my father in law walks 12 yet I would bet Forrest was in better shape than him at 72.

AM ... There are so many interpretations as to what "too far to walk" really means. Do we climb a tree? Swim into the entrance of an underwater chamber that exits above the shoreline?

Too Far to Walk by Forrest Fenn (Hardcover) for sale ... ("No distance [read: zero distance] is not far", but "No distance is too far to walk".) It does seem to fit Forrest, as he claims to have walked over 90 miles in one day, and makes a point of how he's still good at walking even with his age and battle wear.

Foreword

At first glance, 'not far, but too far to walk' appears to detail a distance. Probably somewhere between 2 and 20 miles. 5 or 10 miles is probably a pretty good estimate.

Too Far To Walk - An interview with Forrest Fenn. - YouTube

Too far to walk has a very specific distance associated with it for me, I believe Forrest very blatantly even gives us that distance. But the reason for my post was a response to those who felt like the phrase too far too walk was insignificant.
